ATLANTA PHYSICIANS'

CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Reforms in Organization of

Grady Hospital Will

Be Advocated

Reforms in the organization of Grady hospital, leading to more representation on the staff from the public-at-large, will be urged before city council in the future by a committee from the Atlanta Physicians' club.

The club was organized Tuesday night at a meeting at the Hotel Winifred. The following officers were elected: Dr.

Pope Huguley, president; Dr. L. L. Griffin, vice president; Dr. S. T. Harris, secretary; Dr. W. A. Arnold, treasurer.

The primary object of the club is to take an organized interest in public affairs which also affect the medical profession, and to take action upon them as may be deemed necessary.

Changes in the personnel of the Grady are of paramount interest, according to speakers Tuesday night. The physicians claim that the Atlanta Medical college controls the hospital, with two members from the college on the visiting staff where physicians not of the college have only one representative. The club proposes to retire the heads of the staff biennially under a rotating system, and to take the place of the club will be granted at once. They are not, the executive committee of the club will press them before council.

FIDDLERS ROSIN BOWS

FOR BIG CONVENTION

Nearly 100 Entrants Obtained for Contest Beginning

February 2

Nearly a hundred of the most famous fiddlers in Georgia will rosin their bows for the overture "Arkansas Traveler" when the Old Time Fiddlers' convention opens at the auditorium the evening of February 2, to judge from the applications received by the secretary of the association. In fact, so many country musicians have applied that the organization will demand that each entrant offer proof of his ability by a preliminary elimination contest the night before the main contest. The winners of the contest will be judged by a jury of fiddlers. The contest will be devoted to the playing of the fiddle, and the contest will be held at the Grady hospital the night of the 2nd of the year. The contest will be the first of a series of contests which will be held at the Grady hospital. The Atlanta chapter of the Sons of the Confederate Veterans will share in the proceeds again.

CIVIC LAW AND ORDER

LEAGUE HAS BEEN FORMED

Dr. R. R. Kime Is Temporary

President of the New Organization

An organization to be known as the Civic Law and Order league was formed at the Baptist Tabernacle Tuesday evening with Dr. R. R. Kime as temporary president and Dr. L. C. Cardwell as temporary secretary. A number of other officers were elected at the meeting, which was the fourth of a series of executive sessions.

Those in attendance say the object of the league is the educational uplift of the citizens of the city and that its activities will be more along sociological than political lines. They, however, lend its influence to the election of what they believe the right sort of men to political offices in Atlanta and Fulton counties.

It is planned to elect ten vice presidents—one from each ward in the city.

A series of lectures on the subject of social dealing with vital influences on civil life. Some of the subjects to be discussed will be crime, child labor, clubs, etc.

Leo Frank's Picture in Paper

Leads Miss Lillian M.

Schubel to Travel at Own Expense to Atlanta to Investigate Murder

Miss Lillian M. Schubel has been a stenographer, a demonstrator, a book and magazine agent; but not until she saw a picture of Leo M. Frank in a paper at her home in Grand Rapids, Mich., and had read something about the Frank case, did she turn investigator.

Then she decided to come to Atlanta and solve the mystery of Mary Phagan's death. Born in Missouri twenty-five years ago, she says her heart has always been of the south, and the way in which northern folk in Grand Rapids discussed the Frank case ruffled her feelings so she decided to spend the savings of the two years to make this trip to Atlanta and unearth the evidence in the Frank case. "On her own hook."

No one paid her to do it, she says; she is influenced only by her feeling of kindness to the south, only by the conviction that much is lacking to make the Frank case complete. She is not even going to write her conclusions for a magazine.

She has been exactly four weeks

Tuesday. During that time, she says, she has read all her energies on the case, reading every bit of the evidence, interviewing every one she could see who knew anything about the case, and investigations culminating with an interview with Jim Conley Tuesday.

Miss Schubel is staying at the Aragon hotel. She says she hasn't finished her work, and until she does she won't stay in Atlanta. Her conclusions she will probably turn over to the solicitor.

Teaching What Is New and Near.

The world has taken many a leaf from Germany's notebook in education, and here is another which, with due editing, may be turned to useful account.

"There must be awakened in the children an understanding of the serious and thrilling time in which they live. While there must be kept out of the schools everything that might impact in the children's hearts overweighing self-concern or contempt and hatred for other peoples, it still should be filled with a joyous and conscious pride that they are members of a great nation which is making heroic sacrifice in a just struggle."

So runs a circular of instruction sent to the school inspectors by the Prussian ministry of education, which urges that the hour allotted to the teaching of history now be used chiefly in giving the pupils a clear idea of the course and development of the great war. As neutrals, let us forget for the moment the particular country where this plan is being applied, and regard it from the standpoint of its general merit. Is not the history that is warm with life and tense with present human interest as well worth learning as that which lies dim and dusty in the long ago? Is not such history as is now being made, incomparably more important than what has been finished a hundred or a thousand years?

True, there are circumstances in which American school rooms find it advisable to avoid discussions of the European war; but as a rule the practice of teaching what is current and near at hand is admirable; and further, it is all too rare. Many a pupil has left school knowing more about ancient Athens than about his own town or State, and more of the fauna and flora of the Iberian Peninsula than of his native country's resources. Education like charity should begin at home.

If reports are true, being an ex-president of Mexico is decidedly profitable.

Clear manufacturers will wait until after the war to name their wares for generals.

In the matter of cotton, the south, as usual, is coming to the rescue of the rest of the world.

Giant Opportunities, But Dwarf Results.

The director of poultry extension work in the federal Bureau of Animal Husbandry says that Georgia, with its long summers and mild winters, is one of America's best regions for poultry raising. This interesting testimony is confirmed by that of every authority who has studied the State's resources, and is borne out in the results of hundreds of experiments. It might be expected, then, that Georgia would produce enough poultry and eggs to supply its own needs, and a large surplus for export. Certainly, it would be expected that in this particular every farm home would be self-sustaining.

Strangely enough, however, a competent investigator reports that the average farm in Georgia produces less than two eggs a week for each member of the family. This estimate is based upon observations made several seasons ago, and since then there have been noteworthy improvements. Yet, with the most liberal allowance for what has been done recently, it is evident that the State falls far short of its opportunities in poultry raising. Millions of dollars still are spent in distant markets for supplies which could be produced easily and cheaply and profitably at home.

This shortcoming is not peculiar to Georgia but appears in nearly all Southern States whose agricultural energies have been in bondage to cotton. In Alabama, for example, the average farm has fewer than twenty head of poultry, and in South Carolina fewer than seventeen, while in Iowa, whose natural advantages cannot compare with the South's, the average farm has one hundred and eight head of poultry. This one item is typical of our general neglect of food production. The same influences that have retarded poultry raising have retarded cattle raising, and have drained millions of our money for imports of corn, wheat, oats and other food staples. Now that the perils of the one crop system have been realized so painfully, it may be expected that Southern farms will make more of their broad opportunities.

It wouldn't be winter if we didn't kick on the weather.

To say the least, the German war magazine is something of a self starter.

The European war is dragging along slowly when you consider the number of war councils that are held every day around Atlanta soda fountains and other gathering places.

Let This Appropriation Stand.

Whatever revisions may be made in the City finance sheet now before Council, the allotment of seventy-five thousand dollars for the Southeastern Fair should stand unaltered. This appropriation is for the good of the entire community. It means employment for idle men, encouragement for lagging industries, improvement in every line of trade, and an investment from which the people as a whole will reap bounteous returns through long years to come.

The proposed appropriation, if carried out forward, will prove that Atlanta has faith in itself and in the South. It will convince the country at large that this city is willing and able to support great undertakings, and thus will be a compelling invitation to new enterprise and investment. It will reaffirm Atlanta's leadership in the Southeast.

If Council does its part by providing seventy-five thousand dollars, the Board of County Commissioners will appropriate an equal sum, and through the Chamber of Commerce the merchants will subscribe an additional seventy-five thousand. Upon Council's action, then depends a fund of a quarter of a million dollars. Upon Council's action, depends the success of one of the most fertile enterprises ever conceived for Atlanta's upbuilding. Surely, no member of Council will stand in the way of this great civic opportunity.

It is what a woman doesn't say that keeps a man guessing.

It will be a great disappointment to Texas, but then it is hardly likely that we will go to war with Mexico.

Every cloud has a silver lining; and German aircraft always bring about an increase in English rearings.

Our enterprising Postoffice Department has its way, aeroplane letters soon will be as common as wireless messages. Addressing the Aero Club of America at its annual dinner, the Second Assistant Postmaster General predicted that Congress at its next session would authorize the use of an aerial auxiliary for carrying the mails and that within two years postal aviators would excite no more curiosity than the railway mail clerks of today.

That may be a somewhat heightened expression of the Department's hope, but the practicability of the plan must be conceded. The aeroplane is no longer a mere toy or marvel; it is a dependable machine, and under the hand of a competent pilot can render substantial service. Transportation by air could attain speed not to be dreamed of by the swiftest schedules, and could make routes and cuts which on land would be out of the question; it could save in distance as in time, and could defy all weather foes except the forest.

The most persuasive feature of the Department's plan, however, is that an aerial corps for this kind would constitute an ever-ready reserve for the army and the navy. The European war proves clearly enough that the aeroplane is essential to effective military operations, and that it can stand severe tests. Of this, the record of the British biplane, 123, is interesting evidence. This machine, says a London dispatch, "flew eleven thousand miles, was hit by one hundred and eighty rifle bullets, burst the marks of sixty sharp shells that burst around it, had twenty-five wires cut by bullets, had seven holes shot through the radiator, received an explosive shell from a German aeroplane in the fuselage, and finally was brought to earth, after this experience, by shrapnel which burst directly against the engine.
It proved that an aeroplane in war has only two vital spots—the pilot whose hand directs it and the engine that keeps it going."

Brigadier General Service, chief signal officer of the United States army, heartily indorses the aviation project of the Postoffice Department. Aeroplanes, he says, are an army's eyes; and he adds:
"To the artillery, they are indispensable. We can no longer afford to remain indifferent to this branch of the service. At present, however, we cannot look for more than four squadrons of aerial troops. At present, at least, they would be an auxiliary, and we could not make them out of proportion to the general establishment, the general establishment being only a provision for the first line of battle or defense. The call for reserves—always more reserves—sounds through our aviation plans as through all our military plans. The solution lies in preparing men who can serve as highly trained aerial scouts but who, until emergency demands them, may be of use on other lines. The Postoffice Department plans are of great value in just that regard."

How the plan will appeal to Congress remains to be seen. Unquestionably, however, it offers enough advantages to warrant an initial appropriation.
It's better to be up and doing than it is to be down and done.

The ascent of the ladder of fame may be difficult, but we never notice the splinters until we begin to slide down again.

Whatever soldiers survive the European war will then have the ordeal, on their return home, of learning all the new dances that have been originated during their absence.

Editorial Echoes.

A traveler visiting a large factory made a bet with the manager that he would pick out all the married men among the employees. Accordingly he stationed himself at the door as they came back from dinner, and mentioned all those whom he believed to be married, and in almost every case he was right.
"How you do it," asked the manager, in amazement. "Oh, it's quite simple," said the traveler, "quite simple. The married men don't wear their feet on the mat; the single men don't."—Argonaut.

Shakespeare Says---

With mirth and laughter let old wrinkles come,
And my liver rather heat with wine Than my heart cool with mortifying groans.
Why should a man whose blood is warm within Sit like a hound and grin at his alabaster?
Sleep when he wakes and creep into the jaundice.

By these words peevish? I tell thee what, Antonio—I love thee, and it is my love that speaks—There are a sort of men whose viages Do dream and mantle like a standing pond,
And do a willful stilts entertain With purpose to be drows'd in an opinion Of widger's gravity, profound conceit, As who should say, "I am Sir Oracle, And when I ope my lips, let not dog bark." O my Antonio I do know of these.
For saying nothing, when I am very sure, If they should speak would almost damn those ears.
Which hearing them would call their brothers fools.

Gratiano in The Merchant of Venice.

Fraternity in War.

Christmas between the trenches in what the military persons call the western theater of war—a phrase which reduces war to the prosaic of scene shifters, a stage manager, and a director, was uniformly un-immediately human. The nations had decided that to recognize a period of good fellowship would be impolitic, if not inhuman, and there was no official sanction for what happened.

Brief cable dispatches carried the information that there was an informal exchange of mail for Christmas day and that in one bit of territory the Germans and British had a football game, but the whole illogicality and utter humanity of the arrangements does not appear until the letters of British officers to folk at home appearing in the London newspapers have been read.

One officer quotes a dated sergeant major who had taken a two-mile walk between the trenches observing the proceedings and exclaiming at every step:
"It's hardly credible. I never would have believed it." These "hardly credible" proceedings started in various ways, according to the courage, good nature and disposition of the men facing each other. In one spot the British stopped firing from a sort of feeling that if the other fellow didn't molest them they would molest the other fellow.

Opposite them were some Saxons, who, when it seemed safe, put their heads up above the trenches and called: "Engländer, sing uns something." The British "sang them something," and then two or three men went over to see what sort of folk the other fellows were. They were received in the trenches and joked. A British major wrote home: "They were jolly, cheerful fellows for the most part and seemed easily to be fighting them."

In one trench they sang "God Save the King," and the Saxons brought out a bottle of wine for the health of King George. In another trench, also occupied by Saxons, caution was urged on the British not to take chances with the Germans, but the British were trenches. They were truculent and later proved it by waving back certain British soldiers who had taken a Christmas truce from a sort of feeling that if the trenches unarmed and shot at them to make the intimacy as plain as a brick.

In another stretch of territory the Germans and the British had a football game and the officer who narrates the incident puts an exclamation point after the German, stood in an awkward position, not knowing what to do. The British were not only friendly, but they were also very kind. They were not only

GIVES CHEERING MESSAGE TO BUSINESS INTERESTS

L. E. Pratt, of Advertising Clubs, Predicts 1915 Will Be Banner Year

Lewellyn E. Pratt, national chairman of the educational committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, is in Atlanta, with a message of cheer to the business interests. He has been visiting the big cities of the country and says he finds conditions generally improved and a better outlook among men in all lines of business that this year will be a banner one, insofar as general trade conditions are concerned.

Mr. Pratt will address the Atlanta Ad Men's club at its luncheon meeting in the Winthrop hotel Thursday at 1 o'clock. The Associated Advertising club is made up of 149 local advertising organizations with a total membership of more than 11,000. The committee of which he is the national chairman, has been circulating a series of trade conditions throughout the country.

"The business pessimist will be hard hit this year," said Mr. Pratt Wednesday. "He had full sway toward the latter part of 1914, but his rule is about over. There is nothing but optimism everywhere and 1915 will go down in history as the country's greatest business year. The south is quickly emerging from the depression it experienced last fall. Its outlook is better now than for years and you can take it from one who has been looking into business conditions in every large city in the country, very few have a darker view of things on Atlanta or a better outlook for a more prosperous year."

"Cheer up, Mr. Business Man. The worst is not yet to come—it is all gone. The best isn't too good for Atlanta and it's going to get it all along the line."

BEAUCHAMP TO LOSE JOB IN TAX OFFICE

Tax Assessors Will Not Nominate Chief Clerk for Re-Election, They Say

George R. Beauchamp, for many years chief clerk in the city tax assessors' office, is slated to lose that position when the tax committee of council meets next Wednesday.

The tax assessors have decided not to nominate Mr. Beauchamp. It was announced Wednesday morning by two of the three members of the board, J. N. Malone and C. D. Meador. A number of times in recent years the "tax" has been vetoed for Mr. Beauchamp, but each time he has managed to retain his position, which pays $2,000 per year.

However, the announcement of the tax assessors that he will not be nominated this year is said to insure his defeat, as the tax committee is expected to ratify their nomination.

Messrs. Meador and Malone state that the assessors have not agreed on whose name they will place before the council.

SOCIALISTS IN GERMANY DENY SPLIT ABOUT WAR

(By Associated Press.)

AMSTERDAM, (Via London), Jan. 20. An official statement by the Socialist party in Berlin announced that the foreign press is continually publishing letters whereby foreign Socialists are led to believe that there is strife in Socialist ranks in Germany over the war situation.

"Badly informed correspondents," the statement says, "exaggerate party occurrences and hush up the really important facts."

PROMINENT CITIZENS TO CONSIDER BOND ISSUE

Chamber of Commerce Names Committee to Investigate Financial Condition

President Mel R. Wilkinson, of the chamber of commerce, has appointed a committee of prominent citizens headed by Asa G. Candler, to make an investigation of the financial condition of the city of Atlanta, with a view to determining the advisability of calling for a bond issue.

President Wilkinson's committee will likely meet with the committee of councilors and the committee for the same purpose, under Councilman O. H. Hall's recent resolution.

Mayor Woodward and some of the members of the city council declare that a bond issue to meet the increased fixed expenses of the city without providing any ways of securing additional revenue must meet the increased expenses, and the chamber committee will study the proposition from every angle.

The committee is composed of the following:

Asa G. Candler, chairman; John E. Murphy, vice president; J. M. Hoxey, Mayor Woodford; W. G. Humphrey, F. J. Faxon, Wilmer L. Moore, Charles White, J. K. Otley, W. J. Lowenstein, Alex. C. King, Frank Hawkins, F. O. Foster, Robert C. Alexander, Albert Thomson, E. F. McArthur, Marion Smith, W. C. Mansfield, W. Farlinger, Clyde King, P. S. Arkwright, Morris L. Brantley, J. G. Woodward, A. S. Adams, St. Elmo Mason, J. D. D. Perryman and R. A. Perryman. The committee will meet at the home of Mr. R. A. Perryman, 1110 Peachtree street, N. E., at 8 p. m. Thursday night, and will meet at the church of Hefflin and internment will be in Hefflin cemetery.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon, apply it at night when retiring; use gently to loosen the scalp and rub it in with the fingers.

By morning moist, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single scale and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

Apply it to all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, or by mail, and it is so simple and so all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—(Adv.)

KING HARDWARE COMPANY ANNOUNCES BIG BARGAINS

Great Interest Attaches to Annual January Clean-up Sale Beginning Thursday

The King Hardware company, in a full page advertisement in today's Journal, makes a bargain sale announcement which will be read with interest by every householder in Atlanta.

It is the company's annual cleanup sale held every January, with reductions ranging from one-third to one-half below the regular price.

Every year the King Hardware company has this sale and every year it is a big success. The people have found by experience that when this concern advertises bargain prices they may expect real bargains, and not taken prices, got up for advertising purposes.

Hence the announcement of the King Hardware company's "cleanup sale" is always read with a great deal of interest and the store is always crowded with customers short while after the doors open on the day of the big event.

Into the sale which is announced today and which opens tomorrow, will go useful and useful articles from every department of the company's great store. There will be kitchen utensils, silverware and crockery, household equipment of many various kinds, and tools, cutlery, stoves, and a list of other things too numerous to mention in detail.

How to stop dandruff and loss of hair with Resinol

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop dandruff and scalp itching, and keep the hair thick, live and lustrous:

At night, separate the hair apart and rub a little Resinol Ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with Resinol Soap and hot water. Work the creamy Resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold.

Resinol Soap collected. Ointment easily had across and similar skin eruptions. Sold in all drug stores. For sample free, write to Dept. 27-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Mothers Tell of Mother's Friend

Experience is or should be our best teacher. Women who have child the highest and noblest of all sciences, the struggle for the life of others, should have better ideas of helpful influence.

At any rate when a prospective grandchild is born, it is a good idea to have a "Mother's Friend" on hand to help her through the difficult time.

It is a simple reason to believe it the right kind of advice.

Its purpose is to furnish plenty to the mother, to take away the strain on the cords and ligaments, to relieve the tension of nerves and soothe her to provoke or aggravate nausea, morning sickness, twinges of the limbs and so on. It is applied externally.

Although, in the nature of things, a woman would not mind it, it is rarely, yet so effective has it been found to always bring relief to the United States. It has been prepared by Bradford's Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and advertised by us for over twenty years. Ask at the drug store for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is worth while.

STEPS IN THE NEWEST DANCES

The Beautiful "Draw Step" in the New "Fox Trot"

J. Harvey Hume & Miss Helen Wolford

J. Harvey Hume and Miss Helen Wolford, who are being featured at Midway Winter Gardens, Chicago, in this series of dances. Posing for this picture especially for The Journal.

BY J. HARVEY HUME.

The fox trot is now generally conceded to be the most popular of the new ball room dances. It may be described as a combination of the old "negro shuffle" and the more modern ragtime. Its variations are too numerous to mention. In fact, it may be said of the fox trot that any step which is done in unison with the fox trot music may be called fox trotting.

The Fulton county board of commissioners, serving on it for many years, much of the time as chairman.

Mr. Hunnicutt was a steward in the First Methodist church, was a charter member of Atlanta lodge No. 55, Free and Accepted Masons, and was also its past master.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the hair, makes the hair brittle, and runs it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary milder soap or one (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, leaving every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil.

The quick and easy way to keep the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulated coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—(Adv.)

Baseball Suit Up for Hearing Today; Boxers Announce Ready for Bout

DIANA DILLPICKLES IN

A 4-REEL "SCREECHER" FILM

Spotlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

The "I-should-worry" gag is on its way: "I get you, Steve," is now a vanished text; But still I brood and shudder on this day. And wonder what new snarl is coming next. Each season brings some new refrain about: Each epoch lets some new slogan fall: Where, as they come, I count the last one out: The greatest cost of them all.

The citizen who recently went to Europe for a vacation, as reported, should sign up with the Reds in order to get in on the next world series split.

THE BASEBALL SITUATION. Baseball, as conducted, has its serious faults, but these faults are not nearly as bad as many have painted them. They are faults that should be corrected, but not at the expense of the entire game. If every institution teeming with certain faults was to be dissolved, this terrestrial orbit would soon be a desert, as the esteemed human race would be the first thing wiped out.

One might just as well say that our court system should be dissolved or renewed because we have murderers freed by unbiassed and boob-headed juries right along; or because we have corrupt or mis-souled judges who fine grave offenders as high as $3.75 and then send minor offenders up for three years at hard labor.

In matters of this sort the thing to be attacked is the individual offender, not the system—if the system happens to be the best one that limited human intelligence can devise.

AS A GAME. Baseball is too great a game to be crushed. It has given health, recreation, amusement and abiding pleasure to too many millions to be thrown into the dump. It is the greatest sport ever built up, for it carries every element of all fine games—exercise, quick action, courage, skill, quick thought, careful training, intense interest. And it is American in every detail. What could be the use in a country building up a game of its own of such merit, and then tearing this game down?

ANOTHER TRIBUTE. We have passed through more than one decade of corrupt sport. We have had racing scandals and prize fight fakes. But out upon the playing field baseball has been freer from scandal than any game ever known. Its record in this respect has been almost miraculous. In the last four or five years of world series play over $500,000 could have been added to the receipts by framing up an extra battle here and there. But the results were evidence enough that each game played had been absolutely on the level. Can the same be said of business? Of politics?

BACK TO THE GAME. So it is now up to both the Feds and Organized Ball to end all this miserable fighting and to clear up the atmosphere. The public has been sick of the entire snarl, but the public, with unusually interesting pennant races ahead, would be willing to forget all this court wrangle if the game could be directed again back to the field before the training camps are planted the first week in March. This coming trial in Chicago should be the end of all such brainless bickering.

THE BACK FIRE SQUAWK. In attempting to defend the game itself these days there is always an opening to the charge that one is defending only one side. Which is of no particular moment, one way or another.

Both sides have made enough. But as the Feds have started most of the trouble, it will now be up to them to show a way out—not for their own good, but the good of the game. Which so far they have failed to do. It is easy enough to tear down. But building up is another job.

THE SPORTING ACCENT. The Feds have always to help the fan attain a better show. They've promised a donation—With the accent on the dough.

F. K. J.—This is Lajoie's 20th season in the Big Show and Wagner's 19th. Lajoie started with the Phillies in 1896, playing 29 games that year and batting .331 for a debatable mark. Wagner opened with Louisville in 1897, playing 61 games and batting .244. The two players who served longer terms of continuous service than any we have now track of are Cy Young and Pop Allen. Each served 22 years.

OFFSIDE PLAYS. Those entries who inhabit glass houses should strain themselves to be catchers, not pitchers.

If only those without sin seized the first brick there would never be a sore arm in the game.

Never mind what they say about you so long as too bulky a percentage of it isn't true.

Old Jack Doyle, the pool and billiard impresario, has the correct bunch. "Any game," says Jack, "is a great little game if you reach for it in the spirit in which it was first written."

ANOTHER FALLACY. There seems to be a widespread idea that every one connected with baseball is promoting a young mist.

Some years ago Charles Baird, graduate manager of Michigan athletes, had the idea. He decided to go out and buy a ball club and get rich in a week or so. He looked over the books of several clubs, one of these being the Boston Red Sox. In place of the ball club he had thought had been piled up, Mr. Baird suddenly discovered that most of the fortunes made in baseball were beautiful myths with spectral tintings.

In this pursuit Mr. Baird received a number of shocks. He found that in a number of cases the act of getting as much as 3 per cent on an investment was held to be quite an achievement. It took him only a few moments to decide that professional baseball had been vastly overrated as a kale-grabbing institution.

A few club owners have piled up tidy little fortunes. But in the main most of those who started in are lucky to have as much as they started with. And a good many haven't this little left.

Feds and Orgs Clash Today in Chicago Court

Judge Landis Will Hear Arguments on Suit Filed by Feds to Dissolve National Association of Baseball Clubs—Outline of Suit

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Powers of organized baseball, attacked by the Federal league as a combination operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, are ready to go before Judge Landis in the United States district court today, to fight a motion for an injunction sought by the Feds.

Several hours were ordered to be taken up in the presentation of arguments for and against the suit. The length of the hearings is problematical.

If Judge Landis decides to call on any of the forty-nine signers of affidavits as oral witnesses, the hearing, it is expected, will continue for several days.

None of the attorneys or executives of the three leagues was on the opinion, however, that oral witnesses would be called. All of those named in the charges have filed affidavits. Mr. Landis, with the American and National leagues, in making their charges, presented them in nineteen sworn statements.

Briefly the facts in the suit are as follows: The Federal league seeks to dissolve organized baseball, which operates under the so-called national agreement, as it is alleged it violates the anti-trust law. Organized baseball, however, practically every league in the nation, exclusive of the Federal organization.

The Feds also seek to enjoin the individual defendants from interfering with players now under contract to the Federal organization, and also asks that the contracts with players made by the defendants and each of them under the national agreement be declared null, void and of no effect.

If the Feds are successful in the quest for a temporary injunction, suit will immediately be taken to obtain a permanent order.

Shorn contracts be declared null and void, it would make "free agents" of all players except such as are now signed by equitable contracts.

The defense of organized baseball is that it does not operate in violation of the anti-trust law. It was recently passed by congress, it was reported today. The section which attorneys for the defense are expected to read.

"That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce." As the Federal bill alleged that organized baseball is a trust in restraint of trade and commerce, the attorneys for the defendants will contend that the clause which recently passed by congress, it was reported today. The section which attorneys for the defense are expected to read.

The News BY INNIS BROWN

Judging from the way things look right now, Manager Billy Smith is likely to undertake the job of plotting the Crackers through the 1915 season. For Bill has only one liner who fits 'em up with his left fin, and advance indications on him do not look up as especially favorable for his landing a regular job with the club. Jim Allen is the southpaw's name, and he comes from the Salt Lake City club of the Union association, which turned its eyes to the matter during the course of the 1914 season.

But the absence of a portlander of known quantity and quality is not working Bill to any great extent. Bill believes that a right-hander who can win games is worth just as much as a left-hander who wins no more nor less. In other words, Bill doesn't care particularly on which hand his hurlers wear their gloves, if they can serve up the kind of stuff that stunts hitting by the opposition. And Bill is dead right about it.

Last year, the Crackers worked the larger part of the season without the services of a southpaw. The training season found two left-handers on the roster, in Gil Price and Jack Lowmeyer. But Price never played a winning strike, and Lowmeyer was turned loose after the first six weeks or so of the season.

A kind of popular belief has existed for years that a good left-hander was necessary about to a winning club. This was due largely to the fact that left-hand left and left-hand pitching especially hard to hit. But the Federal league statistics for last season knocked this theory into a cocked hat, by keeping records of "batter against left-hand and right-hand pitching" separately. Some batters can hit left-handers easier than they can right-handers and vice versa. But the fact of whether they swing from the far side of their side of the bat doesn't seem to matter.

Occasionally a pitcher will show ability to win one club in the league and then, suddenly, last year as long as he was a member of the Crackers, Jack Deschamps lost the Atlantic club early. He never lost a game to the Crackers and nearly every game he won. But the same situation might have obtained, had Jack been a right-hander.

Further, Manager Smith will be entirely alone on this southpaw proposition. He wasn't last year. "Boss" McCormick never was able to back up a good pitcher. He began with young Lowmeyer, who was sent back to the White Sox recruit never showed enough to earn him a regular place on the batting force of the Looknicks.

This season, McCormick has two young left-handers to try out. They are Reynolds from Youngstown, Mich., and Hill, from the Waco team of the Texas league. McCormick has a right-hander and neither can be figured very seriously until they have been tried. Just what Lowmeyer will show in the way of left-handers remains to be seen. So far no indication has been given.

Down at Mobile, Charlie Schmidt will hold on to Lefty Lee Townsend. Heir Lord picked Townsend up in Mobile last spring, and he made good from the jump. He should be even better this year. Schmidt will have one of the best southpaws in the league, if this boy is going right. Over in Memphis, Lord will fall heir to Howard Merritt, another good southpaw. Merritt was drafted at the close of the 1913 season from the Appalachian league, and did well. If he played with a winning club, he would doubtless have had a record to draw him a trial in the big show.

Bill Schwartz had Floyd Kroh to start with. Kroh failed to score scenery last season, and it is hardly likely that he will do anything brilliant next season. In addition to Kroh, he has "Red" McGuire, a Kansas City boy, who once played with the Braves, but who dropped out of the game last year because of ill health. This boy has the stuff, if he regains his strength.

John Dolan lost one of the best portlanders from local baseball fans and other old a brodie to the Federals. Just what Dolan will rely on to replace Wilson is not known. But Dolan will doubtless round up at least one south wing flapper. Among the chaffed to be shipped to Little Rock from Montgomery, the only left hander in the flock is young Black. If given half a chance to take his regular turn, Black is a good pitcher. But last season Bob Gilles used him in more than a third of the games played by the Billies, so that he never got a fair break.

It appears, therefore, that Mobile, Memphis, Little Rock and Nashville will open up with at least one left-hander over from last year. The other four clubs have yet to bring out a fork-hander and it is dollars to doughnuts that not more than two of the four turn up with anything worth talking about. Bill Smith is not worrying over the situation at all. He Allen shows the stuff to stir, he will be held. If not it is entirely possible that no southpaw will find a job with the Crackers unless a particularly good man is snatched at the local manager.

Boxers Finish Training Today

Both Eggers and Pappas Announce Ready for Bout at Bijou Tomorrow Night

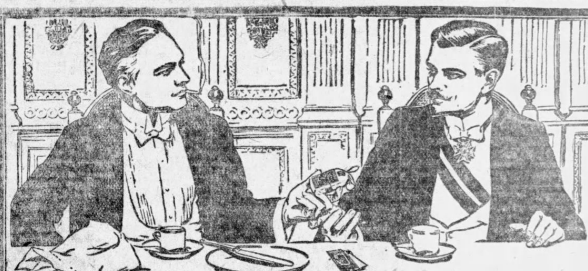

Johnny Eggers and Jimmy Pappas are taking their final workout before the bout at the Bijou theater Thursday night. The usual six or eight rounds of boxing, with the weights and jolts, punching bag and shadow boxing, taken up the final grind, and tomorrow they will be only light work on the card, in order to keep the two little slugging machines well loosened up.

Eggers is down to weight now and his manager says there is no trouble in prospect when he comes to scale in at 118 pounds just before the bout.

Betting on the still continues. The Greek colony is straggling with Jimmy and getting some long odds, but no money is being taken. The odds are set at 1 and 10 to 6.

A lot of interest is centering on the semi-final, in which Battling Bob, regarded as a "come" in Atlanta boxing circles, is to travel eight rounds, of some sort thereof, in Nashville, New York, the handsome new man. These boys are doing their best to win a way into the main event class and there is no room for doubt that they will get their best to dispose of each other.

The tickets are on sale at the usual places, and in addition will be on sale at the Bijou box office this morning, to be had there all day Wednesday and Thursday.

Sheriff of County Confers With Governor and Gives

Him Facts

Governor Slaton Wednesday afternoon gave out the following statement relative to the investigation which is being made into the lynching of four negroes at Monticello last Thursday.

"The people of Jasper county recognize that the action of the mob was a reflection upon their own people and a

"I expect to have an interview with the judge and solicitor general of the circuit in which Jasper county is situated the latter part of this week. The judge is now presiding in another court and as soon as that court is adjourned he and the solicitor general will come to A-

"I have no doubt they will exercise all the functions of their office to maintain the majesty of the law, and it will give me pleasure to aid as executive in any way that is in my power."

"Resolved, First: That we hereby express our hearty disapprobation of such conduct of these unknown parties and condemn this act of lawlessness, feeling assured that it would have been properly disposed of in the courts of our

"Resolved, Second: That we, in meeting, assure the executives of our state and county that we will render all the assistance in our power in bringing the guilty parties to justice by having the matter thoroughly investigated."
